

>

>

> On 07/26/2026 8:43 PM EDT Dale Otterman <daleotterman@gmail.com> wrote:

> > Dear Scott,

> >

> > I know there is so much going on it makes your head swim. The community is having a similar feeling and the rumor mill is running rampant. It was mentioned in a July 7th message that there were three options. One of which is hiring a management company. There are extremely strong reactions to this and many other concerns such as our staff and some of them resigning. I think at this point in time the best way to try to control the situation is to communicate weekly on where you stand, what your options are, and the benefits and downsides of those. Once you set the stage, you can give updates and hopefully we can keep everyone on the same page and try to stop the rumors.

> Thank you,

> Dale Otterman